

Make a real difference

Do you have a course you want to take to a wider audience?
Do you want to increase turnover & generate additional income?

Real Training has the technology and the know how.

There is a high demand for professional training across the UK and internationally.

With well respected relationships already built with influential clients, Real Training is now interested in developing further partnerships.

We are looking for professionals who already run good quality courses for adults working in education or other professions.

Real Training has proved it is possible to run profitable, high quality and complex online training using the highly developed Campus Online™ learning management system. Training can be delivered online or through a blend of face-to-face and online.

Work with educational psychologists experienced in delivering i-learning courses for education professionals.

Fulfil your ambitions.

Contact us on 01273 35 80 80 to schedule a meeting or visit us at stand 105 at the NASEN & TES exhibition on 19th or 20th October 2007, Business Design Centre, Islington, London.

